THE CULPEPER MINUTE MEN. Company B, Third Regiment, which has seen in Camp Lee for the past two days been in tamp Lee for the past two days, was mist organized in 1716 and commanded by Captain P. P. Slaughter, and is recorded in history under the name they still retain, "The Culpeper Minute Mea," with the motto, "Don't Tread on Me"; emplem, the rattlesnake. This company continued to serve with the Virginia roops until the surrender at Yorktown. t was reorganized in 1868, with Captain razewell Patton in command. Entered he Confederate service April 19, 1861, and ormed a part of the Thirteenth Virginia tegiment, having as its captains during he four years C. T. Crittendon and Z. T. Ross. Every man who held a commi stoned or non-commissioned office curring the war was killed or wounded, and of the ninety-two men on the roil at the Gaines' Mill fight, fifty-five were killed or wounded during their term of service The company was in constant service until the surrender at Appomattox, at whi time only four men remained, and three of them in the hospital on the day of surrender. The history of the Thirteepth Virginia Regiment is too well known for me to repeat it here, only to say that wherever it was ordered Company B came in for its full share of the work. The present company was organized by Adjt.-Gen. Nalle in 1879; he was promoted to Colonel, and Lieutenant Colonel Burrows succeeded him. Then followed in succession A. McDonaid Green, A. L.

Goodloe and T. E. Grimesley, serving as captain. The company has been one upon which the State could always depend when called, as has been proven upon several occasions. Therefore, Adjutant-General Naile felt no uneasiness about his old company when the late call was made, and it was no surprise to us that T. E. Grimsley left nome with ninety-three men as true as steel, as brave as lions, and as tenacious as bull-dogs. The company will no doubt sustain the honored name of the ir predecessors and return with their escutcheon as spotless and their reputations as honored as in 1783 and 1865.

The cause of the assault is not known, and the negro up to a late hour had not been apprehended.

The boys of Danville. Company A, of the Third Regiment, Captain Hudgins, had elected Rev. F. M. Anderson, of that city to act as the company's chaplain when they were called out to do war duty and Rev. Mr. Anderson accordingly came to Camp Lee with the company. It was found, however, that only a certain number of chaplains would be allowed to accompany the troops, and as the number had been secured Mr. Anderson was debarred from a chaplainey.

Captain Hudgins called the men together last evening and presented Mr. Anderson to the boys. The minister made a brief address, which was full of manly encouragement, and in which he expressed his deep regret that he could not go along as their spiritual guide. He urged the boys to feel the duty that called them and to be soldiers also of the Cross.

Mr. Anderson's talk was appreciated by the boys who gave him three rousing cheers at its close.

The two companies of the Blues Battalion, who are expecting to be ordered out to-morrow, still need a few more recruits, and in view of the fact that annother call for 100,000 men is about to be issued by President Mckiniley, it appears to be advisable for those who wish to avoid being drafted to join at once some of the companies already in existence.

To the curative, health-giving powers of Swift's Specific, the only blood remedy to be relied upon for obstinate, deepseated blood diseases.

For centuries the human race has battled with a disease which has claimed its victims by the million. Contagious Blood Poison, the most horrible of all diseases-the curse of mankind-has spread its contamination throughout the world, blighting one generation with the taint of another.

This foe to humanity has baffled the skill of medical scientists, and, being unable to cure the disease, the doctors direct their efforts towards covering up its symptoms. There is but one effect to be obtained from the universal potash and mercurial treat-ment—it bottles up the poison and dries it up in the system—but it must be remem-bered that it dries up the marrow in the bones at the same time, gradually consuming the vitality.

With this wreck of the system comes falling of the hair and eyebrows, loss of finger-nails, and decay of the bones—a condition most horrible. But there is a cure for Contagious Blood Poison. Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) has been curing it for fifty years, and is the only remedy which will have the slightest effect upon it. It forces the poison from the system, and removes all trace of the taint.

I was afflicted with a terrible blood disease, which was in spots at first, but afterwards spread all over my body. These soon broke out into sores, and it is easy to imagine the suffering I endured. Before I became convinced that the doctors could do no good, I had not a hundred dellars, which was really spent a hundred dollars, which was really thrown away. I then tried various patent med-icines, but they did not reach the disease. When I had finished my first bottle of S. S. S. I was greatly improved and was delighted with the result. The large red splotches on my chest began to grow paler and smaller and before long disappeared entirely. I regained my lost weight, became stronger, and my appetite greatly improved. I was soon entirely well, and my skip as clear as a piece of glass. and my skin as clear as a piece of glass. H. L. MYERS, 100 Mulberry St., Newark, N.J.

After suffering twelve years from Contagious Blood Poison, being treated by several of the best physicians, my condition grew steadily worse, and I was finally declared incurable. I had spent two hundred dollars with the doctors and was a great deal worse than at first, and gave up all hope of recovery. I afterwards took many patent medicines but they had no effect whatever. A friend persuaded me to try S. S. S., and I saw its good effect from the first. The improvement continued and, after taking twenty bottles, I was cured sound and well, and for eight years have had no sign of the disease.

One body of troops was driven from their intrenchment and took refuge with the garrison in the fort at the foot of the light house. A steady fire was then maintained on the boars by the lighthouse garrison. They had machine guns, A volley from these guns struck one of the launches, killing Reugan and badly wounding others.

All this time the Marbiehead, Nashville and Windom were pouring a steady fire on shore. It was a four-inch shell from the Windom that struck the light house, demolished it and scattered the Spanish garrison. What the loss of life to the Spaniards is is unknown. The wounded men were then transferred to the Windom, which is commanded by Captain McGuire.
